Frequently Asked Questions

Q: I received a voter registration card in the mail. Does this mean that my civil rights have been restored?

⑩ Your rights have been restored only if there is a valid certificate of RCR on record. You should abstain from voting unless you have a valid certificate of RCR. You can search for all RCR grants here: <https://fpcweb.fpc.state.fl.us/>

Q: I had “adjudication withheld” for a felony charge. Do I need to apply for RCR?

• No, an “adjudication withheld” is not a conviction, and does not cause the loss of civil Rights.

Q: I completed my sentencing in another state. Do I have to apply for RCR in Florida?

⑩ You need to apply for RCR in Florida if:

i. You were convicted of a felony in another state or a federal court while you were a Florida resident; or

ii. You were convicted of a felony in another state or a federal court and have not had your rights restored before moving to Florida.

⑩ If you were convicted of a felony in another state and had your civil rights restored before you became a Florida resident, you do not need to apply for RCR in Florida.

⑩ NOTE: Some states restore rights automatically, without any paperwork, and a few never take the rights away at all. See, <http://www.aclu.org/map-state-felony-disfranchisementlaws>

Q: How long does it take to have my application processed?

⑩ The OEC is understaffed and many applications can take up to several years to be processed.

Q: Do I need an attorney to get this done?

⑩ No, you do not need an attorney for this process.

Q: Will restoring my civil rights help me restore my right to own, use, or possess a firearm?

⑩ No. Firearm authority is not restored even if your request for RCR has been granted.

Q: How can I obtain certified copies of charging instruments and sentencing documents?

⑩ You must contact the Clerk of Courts in the county you were convicted. The clerk is supposed to provide you the documents without charge.
